CHILE

The Museo Interactivo Mirador (MIM) in Santiago de Chile seeks outgoing people from diverse educational faculties to work as volunteer experience guides for groups of school children. You must have advanced Spanish language skills and be able to work 8 hours a day, 6 days per week. Lunch is provided daily, with a monthly stipend of 130,000 Chilean pesos. A past intern writes:

"...I worked in the Museo Interactivo Mirador in the La Granja commune of Santiago. The museum aims to teach its visitors about the natural sciences and technology through interactive means. I worked as a guide in the museum and would demonstrate and explain the various games and experiments of the exhibits, to the public. The supervisors and other guides were great and the majority of them were Chilean university students. I learned a lot from them on how to interact with the visitors and to help people learn. The main feature of the museum is the interactivity that takes place whether it is among students and guides or students and the games/experiments or among the students themselves. The exhibits also involve the interactivity of culture, art and technology in our society so that they are relevant for anyone. I would recommend taking up an internship at the MIM for anyone who is interested in the dynamics of learning/teaching and looking into an alternative form of education."
